COAL PRICE PROBE
IN STATE OPENS;
REIS GIVES DATA

PROFITS MADE BY DEALERS IN MILWAUKEE WILL BE INVESTIGATED.

MARGINS FIXED
Indiana Fuel Commission Sets Market on Intra-State Business.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Nov. 10.—For every ton of coal taken out of the hard coal mines in Pennsylvania, the mine is considered 17 cents less valuable, and to get the coal out of the mine, loaded on cars and transported to Milwaukee, raises the price from 17 cents to $1.7 a ton. A. C. Reis, counsel for the state division of markets, asserted at the opening of the coal price investigation in Milwaukee today.Hard Coal Territory Small.
Mr. Reis declared that the nation's hard coal supply was confined to Pennsylvania, and that 70 per cent of the coal used in the United States was produced in that state.

The country's soft coal supply was much less concentrated, he said. Referring to the bituminous product he declared that if Indiana coal were sold in Wisconsin at Indiana prices it could not exceed $8.70 a ton today, that is $2.25 a ton less plus $2.55 margins, and $2.80 freight to Wisconsin points.

Margins Are Fixed.
"These prices and margins are fixed by the Indiana fuel commission and are confined to intra-state business," said Mr. Reis. "In the Chicago open market Indiana coal was quoted at $8.40 a ton, and on October 31 had dropped to $7.50, and to $6.75 on November 6."

Whether coal mine operators are making unusual profits out of the present stringency cannot be ascertained in Wisconsin, inasmuch as there are no coal mines in this state, said Mr. Reis.

Mr. Reis, who with E. E. Bross, assistant attorney general, will inquire into prices charged by dealers, outlined the course of procedure.

Aitchison Declares There Is Possibility of Surplus of Equipment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 10.—The back of the car shortage has been broken, Clyde B. Aitchison, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, declared today before the annual convention of the national association of railway and utilities commissioners.

"Because of the effort of railroad operators and employees, with the assistance of the shippers, and under the policy laid down by the commission," Mr. Aitchison said, "we are down to the possibility of a surplus of equipment."

The present financial situation, Mr. Aitchison asserted, "coupled with the apparent downward trend of construction costs, makes it seem prudent not to engage upon any avoidable construction program until conditions become more normal and seemingly there can be no letting down in the intensive use of equipment to make the existing transportation machine operate at a 100 per cent load factor."

Employees, Officials and Contractors Are Involved in Charges Just Filed.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Nov. 10.—Commander A. B. Clement, assistant to Admiral Benson, announced today that the congressional committee investigating alleged corrupt practices in the United States shipbuilding board.

The committee, and John F. Richardson, special investigator, also were expected to testify concerning the report of a year's investigation by them.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—Corruption in shipbuilding and officials of the shipping board emergency fleet corporation, graft in purchasing supplies and in repairing government-owned merchant ships, and the use of political or other influence in obtaining contracts for ship construction, and the allocation of completed vessels to operating companies, are among a mass of charges made in a report submitted to the house committee on shipping board operations.

Chairman Benson of the shipping board, refused tonight to discuss the construction of the report, and said he might have to make would be made to the house committee, which is now conducting an investigation of the board's operations.

Many Places Covered
The report was made public last night by the committee for which Representative Walsh, Republican, Massachusetts, is chairman. It covers the shipbuilding activities, and deals exhaustively with many phases of shipping board operations as observed by the committee's investigators during a period of more than a year.

In presenting the report, Mr. Fisher explained that it was designated to deal only with problems which could be solved by action by the shipping board itself, and "left untouched" fourteen general subjects in connection with the board's operations.

"Evaded the Draft Act."
Among these were enumerated: organization of the board, technical errors in the construction program German-American deals, assumption of the diplomatic functions by board officials, mismanagement of the board's finances, and evasion of the selective service act.

Taking up in detail seven general phases of the board's activities, the report charged gross waste of government funds, improperly drawn contracts which cost the government millions of dollars, and the various divisions of the board to cooperate efficiently and the almost complete failure of some of the divisions to function.

Padding of pay rolls by firms repaying shipping board vessels, ownership by companies operating government ships, and the activities of firms furnishing supplies to those craft at prices ranging anywhere from 40 to 60 per cent above wholesale costs, were also charged.

Equipment from ships, and the loss of millions of dollars through improperly secured loans, made to contractors by government vessels, also were charged.

Took Worthless Bonds.
The investigators alleged that in some cases the fleet corporation loaned money to contractors and accepted worthless bonds in return. Companies incorporated by the contractors "which bonds have since been found to be worthless."

The charge of a "kick-back" in many cases shipbuilding plants with materials "which are going concerns are turned back to contractors as salvage property," was also made.

Another allegation in the report was that many of the ships holding Liberty bond selling crusades in their plants and charged to ship construction 10 per cent of the money thus secured as the cost for selling the bonds.

It was further charged that in some cases the fleet corporation authorized contractors to take from (Continued on Page 11.)

ATTORNEY NAMES CAUSES OF CHAOS

200 Hear Atwood at Twilight Club in Plea for U. S. Constitution.

Stick to the constitution; have done with failures; better men than you; men who yell generalities from the house-top merely to get votes.

These are the high-lights of an address delivered before the twilight club at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday night by Harry Atwood, former assistant prosecuting attorney for Cook county, Illinois. In a talk couched in terms that knew no favorites, he declared that the cause of the chaotic conditions in the United States of the past few years has been a steady drift from a republican form of government to a democracy.

"The only cure," he shouted; as he thumped the table before him, "is to return to the constitution in all its forms."

Kits Vote Seekers.

"If you are concerned about the way this nation has been tossed on the waves of chaos in the last few years, I beg of you to return to the causes that floundered our constitution," he stated, mentioning that the chief desire of men in recent years has been to draw the business of the government not for the good of posterity, "the makers of the constitution," he said, "but for the good of the present."

"That nation is best governed that is governed enough," said Mr. Atwood, "and that is found in a republic. The republic we drifted away from the plan of the constitution, we went back to the chaos that existed before its adoption."

"The people have been bewitched with a lot of sugar-coated pills. Some day they will realize that this is a perilous spell, disaster, and when they do they will want the truth."

Have Mob Government.

"Why don't we produce statesmen now?" he asked. "Because we have changed from a representative to a mob government, and from statesmen to mob psychology."

"We want to know anything about our government, we look around and find someone who has a brain-sterm."

The speaker drew a parallel between Russia of today and America before the adoption of the constitution, stating that in Russia is an excellent example of a democracy, and the United States the result of the constitution.

Two hundred men heard the address. The teachers of the city were present as special guests. Following his talk, Mr. Atwood was elected an honorary member of the club by unanimous vote.

George Sutherland was chosen to lead the December meeting, subject "Finance," and the January gathering, with the subject, "Marketing Farm Products." A word of greeting was sent to Professor D. D. Mayne, of the University of Minnesota, who founded the club 25 years ago.

HOLMAN SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB

Speaking on "Co-operation for Community Progress" before the Rotary club at the weekly luncheon at the Grand hotel, Lucien O. Holman, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that he had the hope for a great future for Janesville unless the people of this city unite their efforts, and co-operate with each other. It is up to the organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary club to set the example in this co-operation. He urged on the duty which the people of the country and the individual communities owe to the heroes who were left sleeping in Flanders field.

Rev. Henry Willman read a report from the district convention of Rotary clubs at St. Paul, Minn., which was a success. Guests at the luncheon were Rev. C. M. McLaughlin, of Whitewater; S. C. Tonnison, of J. V. Clark, state school inspectors of J. V. Clark, were guests of Sept. 10, 1920.

DOW SCORES WOMEN WHO MAKE SOCIETY THEIR ONLY GOD

"A Good Woman in Hell," was Dr. Dow's subject last night at the Methodist church, and tonight he will deliver the companion sermon, "A Bad Woman in Heaven." His text was "Remember Lot's Wife," and for an hour the evangelist pictured this good woman becoming a bad woman, and how she lost her soul.

"There are two ways by which good people lose their souls," he said. "These two ways are business and society. Both of these are and may remain legitimate. Of course there is crooked business, and there is good business carried on in a crooked way, and there is bad society, and good society carried on in a bad fashion, but good people who lose their souls first lose their grip on life and God by becoming so enamored by business that they think their chief mission in life is to make a success of their enterprise. Many morally good men in every community first lost their grip on the real things of life, by this process.

"Then there are those who lose their souls through society. If one must lose his soul, it were better that he lose it through legitimate business than through society. But what's the difference how you lose your health if your health is gone? What does it matter after all, how you lose your soul if your soul is lost? Many women of these days are fitting around on the surface of things, and making society their God, and like Lot's wife are sinking their souls in the newest fashion or fad."

The two choruses were under full swing last night. Mr. Echols has enlisted Frank Doan to lead the children's chorus which occupies the regular choir loft. Forty or 50 junior boys and girls will compose the chorus. The main chorus of 100 chorists is recruited largely from the Methodist church, but everybody is invited. The cottage prayer meeting for Thursday morning will be held at the following places:

Mrs. C. D. Fitch, 409 North Chatham; Webster Miller, leader; Webster Miller, 309 South Bluff; Mrs. George Jacobs, leader; Mrs. Charles Bodey, 314 North Franklin; Mrs. W. H. Lake, leader; Mrs. E. E. Van H. Lake, 1129 Milton avenue; Rev. A. C. Mosher, leader; Mrs. Ray Terwilliger, 525 South Main; Mrs. Mary Clithero, leader.

Any citizen noticing a street light which is not burning will confer a favor upon us if he will kindly call our office, Bell Phone 151, Rock County 291, and advise us of that fact.

Madison, Nov. 10.—There will be a thorough investigation by the state of the killing of a man at Hurley by prohibition agents about three weeks ago, it was announced by Gov. Philipp today. The announcement followed a long conference between the governor and Maran Reid, district attorney at Hurley.

We wish to thank our many friends in the bereavement of our mother, especially the good neighbors who assisted us so loyally and the kind friends for the beautiful floral pieces.

REFINED SUGAR SELLING AT 11 CENTS WHOLESALE

Reports of the sugar market yesterday coming from New York in the market and of importance by reason of the new price basis, has apparently been taken as a quotation for refined instead of raw sugar.

Raw sugar at 6 1/2 cents a pound is the quotation made in New York on Cuban sugars. Refined sugars at the same time were quoted at 10, 10 1/2 and 11 cents a pound. In Janesville this morning granulated sugar was selling for 11 cents the top quotation of the wholesale market in New York.

BOARD WOULD RAISE HEAVY TRUCK FEES

Supervisors Vote to Join Other Counties in Move to Boost License.

That some increased license fee should be charged operators of heavy automobile trucks so that they will pay more proportionate cost of the upkeep of the highways was the consensus of opinion of the county board of supervisors in its first day's session opening Tuesday afternoon. Following the initiative of Jefferson county, Rock county appointed a committee headed by W. S. Perigo, Beloit, to meet with similar committees from other boards throughout the state to frame a resolution to present to the state legislature. Voting to lower the flag on the court house and jail here where an ex-service man or woman is buried; and routine matters occupied the balance of the afternoon. The matter of reappportioning the method of paying the salary of the county agent was brought up by the reading of a letter from the state agricultural department, but was laid over until Thursday morning for action. Chairman E. D. McGowan of Janesville and Supervisors Simon Smith, Beloit, were appointed to attend the state meeting of the Board of Supervisors' association in Madison in February.

PARTIAL ECLIPSE OF SUN IS SEEN HERE

Janesville witnessed a partial eclipse of the sun from 7:53 to 8:45 this morning. Only a slight darkening of the sun was noted.

The sun rose with the eclipse on in Montana, Idaho, north Wyoming and east Washington, also in Canada, in Saskatchewan, Alberta, east British Columbia, and western Manitoba. No portion of the eclipse was visible south of a line extending from Boise, Ida., through Denver, Guthrie, Jackson, Cedar Keys, and Melbourne, Fla.

The eclipse was on the sun's northern limb. It is the last eclipse of 1920. The other three were: May 2, total of the moon; May 17, partial of the sun, visible only in Australia and South Pacific; Oct. 27, total of the moon, visible in the Pacific states.

HOLSUM

Is Wrapped to Safeguard Your Family's Health

HOLSUM Bread is wrapped at our bakery because we want it to come to your table as clean and pure as when it leaves our ovens.

It would be much easier and decidedly cheaper for us to deliver HOLSUM unwrapped. To wrap bread is a big task and requires expensive, automatic machinery.

Yet we prefer to wrap HOLSUM, for we want to safeguard the health of your family. We consider our business of baking bread a serious responsibility to the public. For we see our bread on the tables of thousands of families in Janesville. We see it being eaten daily—the back-bone of every meal. And assuredly we cannot permit HOLSUM to go out of our bakery unwrapped. We do not believe that bread should come in contact with hands or should be exposed to the germ-laden air.

HOLSUM is the finest bread we know how to bake. It is made of the purest ingredients; it is baked under conditions that are sanitary. And it is wrapped which keeps out the dust and germs and keeps in the delicate aroma and fine flavor.

Note that HOLSUM weighs one and one-half pounds. Don't be deceived by unwrapped bread of lighter weight offered at a cheaper price.

Milk Bottle Shortage

The milk dealers of Janesville are experiencing a considerable shortage of milk bottles and wish to call the attention of the housewives to that fact and request that during the next few days every available milk bottle be placed out for the drivers to collect.

New Milk Bottles have been purchased but owing to the fact that it has been impossible for manufacturers to fill orders shipments are not forthcoming and unless we have the hearty co-operation of our patrons in this respect we will find that it will be impossible for us to keep enough bottles on hand to supply our daily trade.

Kindly make this clean-up week and either have the bottles ready for our drivers or phone the office and we will send direct for them.

ARMISTICE DAY.
"And a beautiful bird of the South shall build its nest in the cannon's mouth."
So wrote Thomas Buchanan Reid at the close of the Civil War. So might we wish to have written on November 11, 1918. In the mad reaction of spirit over the signing of the armistice two years ago on the 11th of November the American nation single swore an oath that it would never enter into another conflict unless the provocation was so great that it must be done as an act of defense. In that hour the blood-dripping anger of conflict had left their mark on millions of thousands of American doorposts. A hundred thousand graves marked the path of martial glory. Heroic boys and men, born of peaceful pursuits, had carried the American flag, an irresistible force against an immovable object, and in the cataclysm that followed the immovable object had been destroyed. Since then we have returned to the occupations of peace, more to our liking and beating the republic in which we live. We have had plenty to do and plenty to eat.
Not so the rest of the world. Torn with warfare, wracked in rebellion, fighting old racial hatreds and old ambitions and territorial covetousness and greed we have chronicled one war after another, sometimes many, until we have had a score of armies facing each other or engaged in actual conflict. These have involved Slav and Turk, British and Afghan, British and Arab and Turk again, French and Arab and Syrian, Rumanian and Magyar, Greek and Moslem, Albanian and Jugo-Slav, Jap and Russian, Pole and Lithuanian, Cossack and Ukrainian and Bolshevik again, Armenian and Kurd, Chinese in rebellion, Ireland torn with revolution, Italy and Fiume—so that the war, like the dragon, whose severed head only provided place for seven new heads to grow, has involved a part of the world continuously since Armistice Day, 1918.

Two years ago at one o'clock in the morning of Nov. 11, we knew that the war was over. We hoped that in that moment, in the twinkling of an eye, there should come forth a new earth, no longer dominated by greed, with the lion and the lamb lying down together, no more war or rumors of war or perilous times either prophesied or real. American mothers, remembering the days and nights of terror as they read of the heroic achievements of sons, hoped that we had emerged from the nightmare of war forever; that there would be no more pillage and plunder, no more loot and lust, no more skeleton babes, and an end had come eternally of the stupefying misery that rises out of the hell of international conflict or armed national upheaval.
We have failed as a world; we have not failed in America. We have not failed here because we have the only government in all the world based on principles that are correct. We have not failed because we so far have kept the faith of the fathers of the republic and have never, for any length of time, strayed from the path marked by the men who made the constitution and blazed the trail of righteous government for free men.
Therefore, it is well on this Armistice Day to renew our faith. It is well to consider the dangers of too great centralization of power on the one hand, a palpable violation of the intent and spirit of the constitution. It is well to consider the effort to steer the ship of state into the uncharted sea of the Opportunist. That ship is captained by the Demagogue. It has no compass and no sailing directions. Its port is anarchy and destruction, its end is death to civilization.
So, then, as we pause at 11 o'clock tomorrow and reverently bow in memory of the dead who died overseas and in camp and hospital here at home, let us say to ourselves that this republic shall stand forever by our help, and that we shall adhere to the faith that made it possible for us to be at peace, and that nothing that we shall ever do will change the republic, either to the rule of the arrogant few, or that it shall become the plaything of the mob.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR MR. BLAINE.
Governor-elect John J. Blaine has a great opportunity presented to him by the people of Wisconsin. The state needs an executive at this time with forward-looking ideas, but at the same time rendering to the people generally fairness and justice. We need a readjustment of the state government. We have arrived at a point where, in a multiplicity of interlocking commissions, we are falling over each other in administration. The Gazette does not believe that the men who made the state constitution ever contemplated a government by commissions named by the governor and creative of a political machine, or a self-preserving body, expensive and cumbersome. The state capital is overrun with commissions. They slop over into other buildings with secretaries and clerks and runners and messengers and other assisting paid platoons and battalions, all of which cost money. Mr. Philipp was going to reduce the number, but in spite of that they increased greatly. Here is a place for the knife. Mr. Blaine can do well by cutting down these commissions and setting his face against any additions.
Then the question of state taxes is a big one to solve. Wisconsin is not only a great agricultural state, but has a place with the industrial commonwealths of the nation on the right of the line. In taxation, an injustice to either the agricultural or the industrial investments by placing

A Bureau of Applied Science
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The Government has at last started in a small way a much needed enterprise. One bureau in the Department of Agriculture—the Bureau of Chemistry—is going to turn some of its discoveries to practical use by finding out their commercial possibilities, and giving the public the benefit of its research.
This means that if the chemists of the sugar experiments laboratory, for instance, find an improved method of making cane syrup the bureau may not, as heretofore, announce the big discovery to the country and then start something else. Instead, if it seems likely that the new process could be developed profitably by syrup manufacturers, and if there is a special need for it, chemical engineers of the bureau will take up the matter. Data will be obtained at a higher price can be obtained for the better product, whether new machinery is needed for the new process, and the cost, whether the project is practicable on a small scale. Equipped with facts, figures, and perhaps a small working plant where syrup has been successfully made by the Government process, the bureau is in a position to furnish help to anyone who is interested.
The branch of the Bureau of Chemistry which is to form this liaison between science and the public is called the Office of Development Work. It was planned by Dr. Carl A. S. Hays, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, who felt that the discoveries of his bureau were not often enough understood by the people who could have made use of them. The trouble was that the bureau had been of help to people who were always writing to it to know if each new process would be a good commercial venture, and if so, how business men and starting work. The bureau had also private citizens who might be interested in the use of a discovery made by the bureau, the Office of Development Work has been opened.
Many of the processes worked out by the Government chemists are practical, and on a large scale, in an already equipped plant. But in some cases the farmer or housewife profits by the chemical experiments.

It is hoped that this may be true in the case of the straw gas experiments now being conducted at the Government experimental farm at Arlington, Virginia. Gas was several years ago obtained from straw. During the war, England eked out her gasoline supply by attaching bags containing the straw gas to the top of automobile busses. The difficulty with straw gas can be seen right there. It has never been satisfactorily reduced to a compressed liquid. When that is achieved, and the qualities of gas obtained from different kinds of straw have been studied and compared, the Bureau of Chemistry hopes to be able to show the farmer how to make his own gas for light, heat and power for stationary engines and tractors. The Government chemical engineers are not, of course, going to every farm to give actual assistance in establishing a gas production plant, but it could furnish all necessary information regarding costs, equipment, and the product.
The office that is to furnish this service is so new that it has scarcely mapped out its campaign. It cannot work out the development of all of its discoveries nor even of all that look promising as commercial propositions. It will work under the special appropriations that are made from time to time by Congress for experiments with syrups, dyes, or dehydration. Thus, if the bureau decided to develop its experiments on the use of corn cobs, the funds for development would come from the appropriation under which the corn cob experiments were made.

Corn cobs, which are now usually burned up, furnish a good example of wasted material. Government research has shown that a number of products can be made from corn cobs, among them adhesive for fiber board, sizing, paper, and a high-grade brown dye. The Government has a high-grade brown dye made from cobs for about 15 cents a pound, and the farmer may be able to sell them for cobs for a very good price, but it is not likely that he would ever be able to extract dye or glue from them himself, because that is a proposition which demands development on a fairly large scale to return sufficient profit. It would be obvious to anyone who has seen the collection of a few baskets of cobs into a corner of the field and try to produce corn cob dye to compete with the product of a big, efficiently-run dye factory.
The Bureau of Chemistry is at present working on a number of experiments with corn cobs. If developed by its engineers, they would be of great service to the country. For example, there are the tanneries. Tanneries generally sell for considerably less than those put out by big tanneries, because a lot is either not so well-skinned and preserved, or else there are apt to be some carelessly tanned hides, possibly of poor quality. In part, this is explained by the fact that the tanneries are making a study of improved methods of tanning and as a result of its work has got out a bulletin telling how to tan hides. Formerly the tanneries were making a study of improved methods of tanning and as a result of its work has got out a bulletin telling how to tan hides. Formerly the tanneries were making a study of improved methods of tanning and as a result of its work has got out a bulletin telling how to tan hides.
Another line of chemical research which has already shown its results is the utilization of inferior grades of citrus fruits. California ships best only the best oranges and lemons, because the price for cull fruit do not warrant shipping it any distance. How to conserve the great quantities of slightly imperfect or small fruit has already been a problem. But now, the California laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry has shown that by using the pulp for marmalade and oil, and the lemons for citric acid, and establishing the business on a large scale, the cull fruit can be utilized. Largely as a result of increased interest in conservation of these imperfect fruits the price of cull oranges and lemons has gone up from five dollars to thirty dollars a ton, and four concerns have started to manufacture by-products of citrus fruit.

These are two of the many experiments which the bureau is making and which the Office of Development Work could promote with profit to the country. The main difficulty, so often associated with new Government projects, is to get Congress to provide enough money for the work to be really of benefit.
The burden unequally will be ever fraught with the small of class legislation.
We have not started the program of reconstruction legislation following the war. Every quack in the country has his remedy for popular ills, many of which disappear because they are superficial and exaggerated. Others disappear by natural economic laws. Others remain, and to these attention should be directed with no narrow vision, but a broad view, taking in all the elements that go to make up the population and the interests of the constructive forces in state affairs. It is no easy task to harmonize all these interests, and that is why the governor and the legislature have a big task, requiring the highest type of statesmanship and good business judgment in the next few months.
It is to be hoped that Mr. Blaine will not falter in the trust imposed.
Ten days from now we will forget there was an election with baseball, booze, and one buck, occupying the center of the stage.
If Judge Landis accepts the presidency of the new Judge Landis league there will be no fine for players less than $50,000.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST.
THE LAND OF USED TO BE.
Ever and ever away from the land of used to be. Out of the land we used to know, Into the land that is to be. Seeking to solve life's mystery, Away from the land of used to be, Gaining knowledge of what is true— But a little while shall this morning last, Tomorrow shall number it with the past.
Out of the Land we Used to Know Ever the march of men must go, Never again shall we grown-up play In the apple orchard of yesterday; Never again shall we know the sea With the charm it had in the Used-to-Be For it seems with the passing of every day Closer we get to the Far Away.
Dust are the idols we loved of old, Our fingers have touched them and found them cold. Our fairy stories have lost their charm, Our giants no longer have power to harm; Pull many a riddle we've solved and earned, With the minute truth we've learned. Thus searching for splendors new we go, Out of the Land-of-the-Things-we-Know.
Never a mortal long may stay In the pleasant Land-of-His-Yesterday; Clear-eyed youth and the furrowed brow, Must turn their eyes to the Land-of-Now, And write on the pages of memory The joys they knew in the Used-to-Be. For nearer and nearer we get each day To the wonderful Land-of-the-Far-Away. (Copyright, 1920, by Edgar A. Guest.)

Ventures in Common Sense
By ED. HOWE, of Atchison.
I dislike a bad egg, but that is no reason I should dislike a good one. There are foolish, bold and useless women, and I have a right to say I like sensible, modest, useful women better.
Women are more chaste than men because lack of chastity is less dangerous for men than for women. The strongest motive back of every safe, sane and respectable man and woman is not principle, but selfishness.
Shiftless women are not punished as promptly as shiftless men; I know plenty of shiftless women who are "getting along" well, but I do not believe I know a single shiftless man who is at all prosperous.
The man who can call women angels in a new way succeeds best in love and literature.
A man may go to hell, and, after looking around, back out of it, and make another start, but a woman can't do that. She goes to the devil, the devil knows a lot about her, and tells, and people won't forgive her. There are so many mean men that people can't keep track of all of them, but the people make a pretty good snagger at keeping track of all the foolish women.

Who's Who Today
MAJ. GEN. LEONARD WOOD.
It is generally said that President-elect Harding will offer the portfolio of secretary of war in his cabinet to Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood. The General Wood has been mentioned as the probable choice for some time. When he visited the winning candidate at his home in the city of Washington, D. C., at the Republican convention, at which Wood was a candidate for the nomination, it was announced that he had been selected to head his support to Harding.
Wood's career has been a long and brilliant one. Between him and President Wilson and other Democratic leaders undoubtedly prevented the recognition he deserved in the war.
Shortly after the United States entered the war, General Wood urged the advisability of calling out large numbers of men in addition to new equipment and giving them all possible training while equipment was being produced.
About that time he was detached from command of the eastern military department, with headquarters at Camp Funston, Kan., and transferred to command the southeastern department, with headquarters at Charleston, S. C.
Subsequently, upon formation of the Eighty-ninth division, General Wood was sent to Europe late in 1917, to command the military operations on the western front in preparation for service in the theater of war. He returned to the United States, and, last May, on the eve of his expected departure for Europe, he was promoted to the rank of major general and given command of the Eighty-ninth division and ordered to take charge of the western military department.
When he returned from France, although the former chief of staff intimated he wished to talk with the president, after he had been promoted to major general he was given the command of the Eighty-ninth division and his only comment after the interview was: "I am a soldier and will obey any orders given me."

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
WHY NOT ISOLATE CORYZA?
It has been demurely hinted here on more than one occasion that whoever imagines it is possible to contract communicable disease by merely getting the feet wet or putting on a draft or changing clothing should be pitied if not punished as a nuisance within the purview of the laws of the state. But a fool superstition is directly accountable for a great deal of preventable illness. Unfortunately, some of the chief causes as were just mentioned, and nowadays we find these old timers running round in circles trying to scare up tangible evidence to support the dear old delusion. But even the disinterested and utterly unprejudiced guinea pig refuses to succumb to the hypothetical path of catching cold from such causes as were just mentioned. Guinea pigs will multiply, but they won't multiply a delusion.
Don't be angry, dear reader, if you happen to read a little too old-fashioned about this. I'm not censoring you for your superstitious belief; I'm merely trying to show you the error of your ways. You may suffer chapping of the skin, chilblains, frostbite or freezing from exposure to cold, but one cannot catch coryza, pneumonia, diphtheria, the flu or tuberculosis from any such exposure, though all the old fogies who are terrified by the down administrative jobs advise you in one breath to have plenty of fresh air and open windows and in the next breath warn you to look out you don't expose yourself. Wet feet, drafts and all that sort of thing may be uncomfortable, but they are not dangerous. The respiratory infections I have just mentioned are but a few of the diseases needlessly spread through the community by the consequence of catching cold delusion. About one-third of all cases of appendicitis operated on today may be charged up against some respiratory infection. A respiratory infection is a disease spread through the exchange of nose and throat secretions in close contact, open-face sneezing, un-muzzled coughing. All the so-called infectious diseases of childhood (measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, etc.), and respiratory infections, so is epidemic meningitis, and probably infantile paralysis. Physicians and health officers, catching cold delusion at present, draw the line at tuberculosis and diphtheria—these they concede are not in any way dependent on wet feet, drafts or exposure to cold. It will not be long now before they will consent to shove the line up far enough to include pneumonia, and even health authorities already have done so. After that it will be but a short step onward to include common cold and ordinary sore throat in the list of respiratory infections which call for isolation of the patient for a period consistent with public safety.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Shock.
When an individual suffers "shock" from an injury or accident is his face pale or flushed? Is it advisable to take a hot or cold bath? Is it better to rest in a bed or in a chair? The individual is cold, pale and very weak, either unconscious or dead. Keep the head as low as the body. The condition and treatment are the same as in fainting.
Smoking and Cigarettes.
Please give me suggestions for breaking up the cigarette habit in a boy aged 14 years. He has been smoking secretly since he was ten years old. He smokes about five or six cigarettes a day. He says he wants to stop, but can't do so because if he gives up he will lose a day he is sick the next day. (M. A. C.)
ANSWER.—Two things explain the cigarette habit in boyhood: (1) A rather natural desire to "show off" and (2) mental desire to ease your desire belongs, evidently, to the second class, for the boy smokes in secret. He does not want to "show off" may be brought to his senses, as a rule, by a sound thrashing by his father or teacher or an officer of the law. The mental defective requires special disciplinary training, as in schools for the feeble-minded or the delinquent. Incidentally, the person who supplies the boy with cigarettes ought to be punished.

Q. Is the $10 passport fee imposed by act of congress, or by a ruling of the state department?
A. The state department says that the $10 passport fee is provided for by an act of congress, which originated in that body, and is not a ruling of the state department.
Q. What is the difference between "perspire" and "transpire"?
A. M. E. R.
Q. In physiology, the word "transpire" is given as a synonym for "perspire." The term "transpire" is applied to human beings, whereas "perspire" is used mainly in reference to plants. To "perspire" is to exude a fluid matter through the pores of the skin; to "transpire" is to exude a vapor, as from the tissues of plants.
Q. How old was George Washington when he became president?
A. A. D. W.
Q. Our first president was 57 years of age when he took the oath of office. His parents were born in what state?
A. George Washington, great-grandfather of George Washington, was born in England.
Q. What is the origin of the term "Indian Summer"?
A. There has been considerable difference of opinion regarding the origin of the term "Indian Summer." The explanation is as follows: During the Indian wars the attacks of the Indians on the pioneers abated considerably during the fall months, and the Indians accordingly felt reasonably safe when winter set in. Then when there were two or three weeks of mild weather after the first frosts, the Indians had another opportunity to make an attack.
Q. I run a machine that has a label on it that says "What should be done?" W. M. B.
A. The Bureau of Standards says that there are a number of bolts and nuts of different sizes which would reduce the slipping somewhat. However, if the belt slips, it is an indication that it is being called upon to do more work than it was intended to carry. A wider belt may be needed.
Q. Which river has the greatest discharge, the Mississippi or the St. Lawrence?
A. R. A. L.
A. The St. Lawrence has a far greater discharge. The average discharge of the Mississippi is about 600,000 cubic feet per second, while that of the St. Lawrence is approximately 1,130,000 cubic feet per second.

The Mystery Beneath the Hood
What is the matter with the gas engine when it refuses to work? This problem has come to worry so many of the citizens of the city of Janesville that the Government has prepared and printed a bulletin of practical hints on the care of this kind of engine. It is a free copy of the 20th century.
It is a primer to him who operates a machine, told in the simple language of the uninitiated. It may, however, contain a hint here and there to the man who is a little wise.
It is FREE at our Washington Information Bureau, and its distribution is a part of the service we render to our readers.

Hermann to Appeal to Minors to Support Lasker Plan

By George McManus.

LOWER LEAGUES TO STICK TO A NEUTRAL COURSE

(By Associated Press.)
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 10.—With the opening of the season, the National Association of Minor Leagues, August Hermann, owner of the Cincinnati Nationals, and a leader in the organization of the new twelve club league, is to address the convention of minor league owners here today in an appeal for endorsement of the Lasker plan for baseball reorganization.

Mr. Hermann will attempt to offset the favorable impression created among the minor league owners yesterday by Ben Johnson, president of the American league and George W. Miller, the American league attorney, who urged the minors to appoint a committee of three to meet with a similar committee from the major leagues in a final effort to avert a baseball war. President Johnson, in opposing the minor leagues that the management of baseball should remain in the hands of men who have devoted their lives to the sport, instead of being turned over to men outside the game.

It is expected the minor leagues will refuse to take sides, leaving the threatened war to the major leagues for settlement.

FIGHT DECISIONS

Worcester, Mass.—Young Montreal bantamweight champion of New England, was given the decision over Frankie Mason, flyweight champion of the United States in a 10 round bout here.

New York.—Mike O'Dowd, former middleweight boxing champion, outpointed Jeff Smith in a 15 round match at Madison Square Garden by decision of the referee after the judges disagreed.

U. W. GRADS TO COME BACK "HOME"

Football Game to Be Feature of Annual Reunion Saturday.

Madison—Home coming of University of Wisconsin graduates occupies the attention of the university city this week-end. Thousands of former students are expected to attend the annual get-together, and the season's most interesting football game. The whole university section is preparing to receive the returning alumni. Gala appearances have already been assumed by stores and fraternity houses, which are decorating in honor of the occasion.

Football is the central attraction. Back for one real look at the Badgers in action, just as they used to watch them in the days of "Cub" Buck, Kieckhefer, Eddie Gillette, and Van Riper, or back even when Coach Richards was starting with Professor Pyro, Dr. Dean, and Henry Goodrich. The graduates expect Wisconsin to show the spirit that will mean the downfall of Illinois on the gridiron.

Action starts the day before the game, according to arrangements of the homecoming committee. Registration of alumni will be held throughout Friday, and during the early part of Friday evening will be the central attraction.

Two Bands Will Play
Two bands will be in the armory to put early life into the huge crowd that always packs the hall. The Olinette, Coach Richards, "Eddie" Gillette, and members of the team tell how the foe will be handled on Saturday. Following the mass meeting is a dance around the bottle on the lower campus. Engineers' minstrels, the annual production of the engineering school, will be held on Friday and Saturday night for the first time.

Hobo Parade Planned
A hobo parade is scheduled for Saturday morning, when Illinois' goal will be led through the streets followed by students in "hobo" attire. Then follows the game, always the most interesting of the year from the viewpoint of the university.

Saturday evening an alumni dance is scheduled for Lathrop hall. Sunday is the get together day when graduates spend the last time renewing acquaintances, and when the fraternities have their annual big get together.

Houses Are Decorated
Freshmen are busy this week gathering material and planning decorations for houses of the Latin quarter which are competing for prizes on the best layout. Preparation is in full swing for the coming year.

Football enthusiasm has run high at the university this year. Despite the defeat by O. C. students have been active in showing their backing to the team. The Illinois game is the climax of the year. It is the last game at home and always the one that occupies the center of attention after Minnesota has been disposed of.

Boxing Notes

Jim Londea, Greek champion, will be the headliner at the Haymarket Theater Friday night, against Paul Martinson, the trial horse of the wrestling game. Jim is making a match with the heavier men, now that he has packed more weight on his bones. In Martinson he tackles real tough game, but if the winner, will get Jack Linn at an early date.

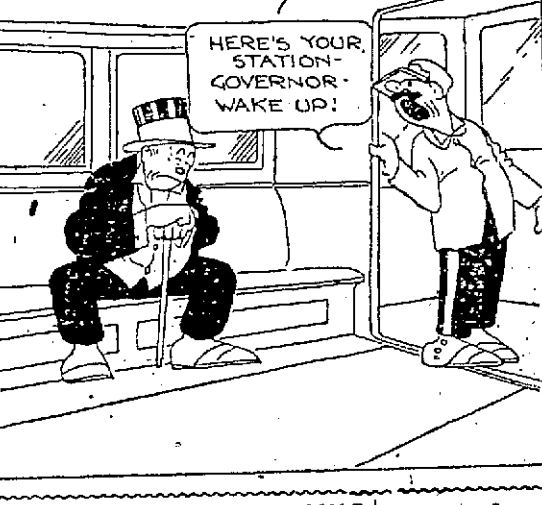

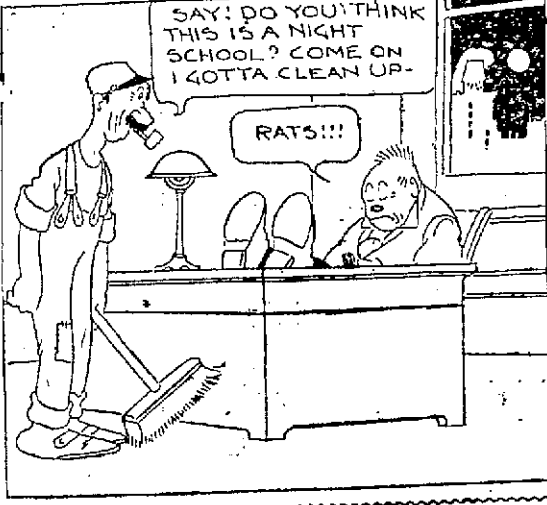

Atlantic City, N. J.—Atlantic City may be seriously considered for the Dempsey-Carpenter world's championship bout, according to William A. Brady, one of the promoters. Brady, in an interview here, declared he sees no reason why the resort would not make an ideal spot for the contest.

New York—The boxing game in New York is in a more flourishing condition at present than it has ever been.

Seven shows have been staged by Tex Rickard at Madison Square Garden since the Walker boxing bill went into effect and the total receipts have been more than $240,000. Not a single world's champion has been carded on any of the attractions.

Frank Mulhern is planning to use Harry Mansell, English bantamweight in the semi-final with Frankie Schmalzer, Nov. 22 on the same card as Willie Jackson and Lew Tindler. Mansell has started training, so if the match is closed he will be in good condition. Schmalzer has been going his game in Milwaukee the last year and the winner will be rewarded with a final bout at a future card.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Dalton's Green Bay Packers Here Sunday on Way to "Beat" Fairies

As bitter enemies as Janesville and Beloit, Green Bay Packers and the Fairbanks-Morse clash on Morse field, Beloit, Sunday. The battle is in the nature of the semi-pro title of the State. Janesville fans will go down to the Gateway city in crowds to root for the Packers, largely because "Moosey" Dalton, formerly a high school star here and for several years a member of the Lakota Cardinal basketball team, will play fullback with the Northerners.

Result Now Tied.
On October 31, Green Bay defeated the Fairies 7 to 0 at Green Bay. Last year, Beloit was given the decision over the Packers, 6 to 0, by one of the rottenest pieces of refereeing ever seen on a football field. Green Bay comes south with a determination to show the Fairies that they are a better outfit. Dalton will bring his aggregation to Janesville Saturday night. As coach of the team, he will take the eleven out on the Lincoln school grounds Sunday morning for a week-out, unless he finds it impossible to work there. If such happens to be the case they will use the fair grounds for practice.

The Packers will come here from Madison with a good crowd of rooters. The whole bunch will see the Madison-Illinois game Saturday afternoon.

Five Basket Men.
On the packer team are five of the men who played with the Northern Paper Mills last year against the Lakota Cardinals for the basketball championship of Wisconsin. They are Rosenow, Wheeler, Madley, Wilson and Lyster. Dalton reports that the team is all in shape except him. It will be remembered that a forward pass, Dalton to Rosenow, who took the oval to the one-yard line where Wagner carried it over.

Seating Capacity of Yale Bowl Increased

New Haven.—The seating capacity of the Yale bowl for the Yale-Harvard football game Nov. 20 will be 72,000. The Yale Athletic association has begun the creation of temporary wooden seats inside the masonry of the bowl and a lot of temporary seats has been completed around the top.

BELOIT TO PLAY AT FORT ATKINSON ARMISTICE DOINGS

Beloit college will play her next football game at Fort Atkinson Thursday against the Whitewater Normal school eleven before an Armistice Day crowd estimated at 5,000. Great efforts are being made to draw fans from all parts of the state to the holiday observance and the football game will be the feature.

Fond du Lac.—A canoe shaped like the body of a headless man was found in the town of Ashford. The limbs are of equal size and shape. The shoulders were almost perfect, tapering from the neck to the armpits. Where the head should have been, the green top of the plant began.

ALL-STARS AND TANKS ON BASKET COURT

Janesville All-Stars will open their basketball season in a game with the local tank corps at the armory Saturday night. The guardsmen have been practicing considerably during the past two weeks. The Stars are expected to work-out this week.

MATTY MAY WIN AGAINST WHITE PLAGUE

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 10.—Christy Mathewson may win his game fight against tuberculosis, Dr. Packard, his physician, has assured Mrs. Mathewson that the chances are now in his favor. He is still in a darkened room and able to see few visitors, and he has not been able to enter upon the fresh air cure, but gas treatments have helped to clear his right lung, his fever is gone, and he is gaining weight and strength.

Baseball War Hits $5,000,000 Stable of Players

New York, Nov. 10.—More than a half million dollars' worth of ball players will be put in the balance if President Ben Johnson goes through with his threat to sue for the services of the players of the New York, Chicago, and Boston American league clubs. The estimated value of the best players of the three clubs is $1,000,000, including:

New York—Habe Ruth, $250,000; Carl Mays, $100,000; Aaron Ward, $10,000; Bob Meusel, $7,000; Bob Shawkey, $7,000.

Chicago—Eddie Collins, $75,000; Ray Schalk, $50,000; Dick Kerr, $15,000; Eddie Murphy, $7,000; John Collins, $5,000.

Boston—Harry Hooper, $35,000; Wally Schang, $25,000; Everett Scott, $25,000; Stuffy McInnis, $10,000.

BADGERS AND ILLINI LABOR FOR SATURDAY

Wisconsin's football team is in great shape for the battle Saturday with Illinois at Madison. Every man is in tip-top condition following last week's victory over Minnesota. The scrubs, trained for weeks in the style of play used by the Illini, are going through their paces for the benefit of the regulars.

Weston and Tebell will be fit to go in at end.

Illinois will also be able to put up its best appearance. Zupke is straining every effort to get his aggression in shape so that he may come out ahead in the conference standings.

Dope gives the Illini an advantage because of their 17 to 7 defeat of the Gophers while Wisconsin counted but 3. But Minnesota was weaker earlier in the season than now.

Warm as an Arctic—washes off like a Boot

The "U.S." Walrus—worn by farmers everywhere

FOR years farmers have needed a high rubber overshoe—easy to put on and take off—warm and comfortable—one that could be easily cleaned of the dirt of the barnyard.

There's an overshoe like that ready for you this winter. With an all-rubber surface—snow-tight and water-tight—lined with soft, warm fleece—the U. S. Walrus is just the thing you've been looking for.

It slips right on over your leather shoes. You can work in sticky mud all day, but when you get home a pall of water or a rinse at the pump washes the U. S. Walrus as clean as when you started. No chance for dried mud to rot that smooth rubber surface!

At exactly the place where overshoes usually wear out first, the U. S. Walrus has been made strongest. Its sole consists of heavy layers of the finest rubber. All other points of strain are specially reinforced.

Ask your dealer to show you a pair of the U. S. Walrus. Examine for yourself their wonderful built-to-wear construction. After you've worn a pair for a day or two, you'll realize why farmers everywhere are buying them.

Other types of "U. S." Footwear—built for rough service

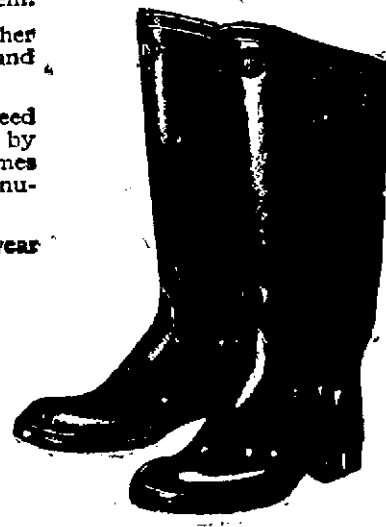

U. S. Boots have all the wear and comfort which the accumulated improvements of 74 years have given them.

U. S. Booties lace on over the sock like a leather shoe. You can wear them all day long in mud and water—your feet will stay dry and comfortable.

The U. S. line of footwear has a type for every need—arctics, rubbers, "overs." Every one is backed by over half a century of experience. The rubber comes from our own plantations—the whole process of manufacture is supervised by experts.

Always look for the U. S. Seal—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

GIVE A THOUGHT TO THE MEN WHO SLEEP IN EUROPE'S FIELDS!

Two years ago, when the news of victory and the ending of the war was flashed from across the sea, a tremendous thrill swept over America. Mingled joy and reverence moved us--joy because of the triumph of our forces, and profound reverence and honor for those who would remain on the battle fields.

The citizens of Janesville and community are invited to participate in the commemoration of that victory and to assist in doing honor to the memory of those who gave their lives in accomplishing it.

Attend The Armistice Day Meeting Court House Park Thursday Afternoon, November Eleventh At 2:30 O'Clock

(In the event of rain, the meeting will be held in the Myers Theatre at four o'clock, p. m.)

I join my spirit with the people of Janesville in doing honor to the soldiers of the country. There never were more splendid men than were the sons of America in the recent war. And because some of them gave their lives in that conflict in the defense of their country and its principles, a profound duty now is ours to keep this nation true to the ideal they last held for it. We must not cease to remember them; we must always be quick to honor them. Because of them we must continually strive toward a more splendid America. The memory of our fallen heroes must be forever an inspiration to us and a challenge to a patriotism that is true as was theirs.

WARREN G. HARDING.

We Shall Not Sleep

In Flanders' fields
the poppies blow
Between the Crosses,
That mark our place;
and in the sky
The larks still bravely
sing, fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.

We are the dead.
Short days ago we lived,
felt dawn,
saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved,
and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel
with the foe.
To you from falling hands
we throw the Torch—
be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith
with us who die,
We shall not sleep,
though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

I am very glad to hear that Janesville is going to pay a special tribute to the soldiers of the nation who died in the recent war and who survived it. We owe them a debt of gratitude, and I want to join with you in expressing it.

Both the dead and the living embodied the spirit of service and sacrifice. They offered everything, even life itself, that Right might prevail. Their offer and their sacrifices typified the best and highest form of citizenship and embodied an appreciation of our own nation and its principles that is unlimited. They served with courage and devotion. They were not only a safeguard but an honor to their country.

I join with you, in heart, in doing them honor and giving expression to profoundest gratitude.

LEONARD WOOD.
